ODI

The Overseas Development Institute is an independent non-governmental centre for research on international development and humanitarian issues. ODI aims to inspire and inform policy and practice which lead to the reduction of poverty, the alleviation of suffering and the achievement of sustainable livelihoods in developing countries. ODI undertakes high quality applied research, promotes policy-focused dissemination and debate, and offers practical policy advice to a wide range of organisations including governments, international agencies, and non-governmental bodies. The work centres on five research and policy programmes: Rural Policy and Environment, Poverty and Public Policy, Forest Policy and Environment, International Economic Development, and Humanitarian Policy.

AgREN

The Agricultural Research and Extension Network (AgREN) was established in the mid-1980s to link policy-makers, practitioners and researchers in the agriculture sector of developing countries. AgREN was founded on a strong belief in the importance of information exchange and learning from both positive and negative experience. It aims to provide its members with up-to-date information and the opportunity to maintain a dialogue with others who have similar professional interests. AgREN is also linked to the broader research of ODI's Rural Policy and Environment Group. AgREN publishes a newsletter and network paper series which come out twice a year, in January and July.

Rural Policy and Environment Group

The Rural Policy and Environment Group (RPEG) includes specialists from social and natural science backgrounds. It works in collaboration with southern partners and conducts interdisciplinary research for increased effectiveness, efficiency and accountability of natural resource management and agricultural service delivery. The Group also undertakes research-based policy advisory work and has an extensive programme of publications and information exchange. RPEG works closely with other key institutions such as governments, non-governmental organisations and international organisations to develop sustainable relations between natural resources and rural livelihoods. The Group's work aims to generate new knowledge and methodologies at the local level, and policy and institutional advice at national and international levels.

ODI on the Internet

For more detailed information and to see on-line versions of AgREN papers and ODI's Briefing Papers and Natural Resource Perspectives papers, visit our web site at: <http://www.odi.org.uk>

As a registered charity (No. 228248) ODI is non-profit-making and is supported by grants and donations from public and private sources. The Agricultural Research and Extension Network is funded by the UK Department for International Development.

HOW TO USE THE REGISTER

Entries are listed alphabetically by country and then alphabetically by name within each country. Institutional membership entries are listed at the beginning of each country section. Individuals are also listed alphabetically at the back of the register in the Members by Name section.

The codes given in the members' entries represent the Interests that members have indicated on their application forms:

FS	Farming systems
AgFor	Agroforestry
IS	Institutional strengthening
FP	Farmer participation
AgEx	Agricultural extension
CBO	Community based organisations
ARP	Agricultural research policy
M&E	Project management, monitoring and evaluation
SS&B	Seed supply and biodiversity
Lstk	Livestock and animal traction
Env	Conservation and environmental management
Gender	Gender issues
AgMkt	Agricultural marketing
RL	Rural livelihoods
